PROF. CAMPBELL TO GIVE ADDRESS

Prominent Michigan Educator Will Speak at Phi Beta Kappa Dinner April 28

DINNER OPEN TO PUBLIC

Prof. Oscar James Campbell, director of graduate work in the department of English at the University of Michigan, will be the speaker at the annual Phi Beta Kappa dinner to be held at 6:30 p. m. Friday, April 28, in the ballroom of the Lafayette hotel.

His subject will be "Wit and Dilatory Time," and will involve an analysis of the means of handling time to avoid futility and to achieve definite goals by intelligent effort. The dinner will be open to the public, and reservations may be obtained from Miss Katherine Wilson of the Romance languages department.

Professor Campbell was educated principally at Michigan and Harvard and was given a graduate fellowship to the Universities of Copenhagen and Berlin by Harvard. He has also studied at the Universities of Paris, London, and Oxford. Most of his teaching career has been spent at the Universities of Wisconsin, Harvard, and Michigan. After the war he was commissioned by the United States government to collect information about Turkey for the Peace conference.

Professor Campbell is president of the Michigan Theater league, an ardent "first night" at the New York theaters, a director of the Society for Prohibition Reform, a member of the executive committee of the Modern Language association, and is an interested follower of athletics.

GA. TECH RALLIES TO DEFEAT U. K. TRACK MEN 67-64

Wildcats Lead Throughout But Drop Final Event To Lose

PARRISH SETS NEW RECORD IN HURDLES

Kentucky Team Will Face Berea at Berea May 1

Victory in the mile relay gave the Georgia Tech track team a 67 to 64 victory over the Wildcat team in a hard fought meet held Saturday afternoon on Stoll field. A large crowd watched the Techmen come from behind to hand the Big Blue its first defeat.

Although the "Cats, paced by Doug Parrish, were in the lead most of the afternoon, they could not pile up enough points to assure a victory.

Parrish was again the big pointer for the Blue team, scoring 17 of his team's total. His best performance was seen when he established a new University record of 15.3 in the 120 high hurdles, and won the low hurdles in the fast time of 25.3. He also placed second in the 220-yard dash; third in the hundred, and second in the pole vault.

Capt. Howard Baker had little difficulty in capturing the two-mile event, and placing second to Mahan in the mile run. In the two-mile grind he trailed his competitors in the early laps but sprinted in the final circuit to win handily. Armer Mahan, promising sophomore, ran a nice race in the mile to win over Baker by a narrow margin. The pace was too grueling, however, as he was forced to drop out of his other specialty, the half-mile which was taken by Charlie Gates, who has been showing improved form.

The field events were fairly evenly divided with the Wildcat entrants doing better than was expected before the season opened. Ralph Kercheval won the javelin throw and placed second in the broad jump. The distance was less than a foot shorter than last week in the broad jump when "Kerchy" placed second.

Frank Seal placed second in the shot put as Dean of Tech heaved the iron ball 43 feet, 6 inches to win the event. Sam Tuttle again won the discus throw with Joe Rupert in third position.

In the mile relay, the first two men opened up a slight lead but Davenport and Galloway, the last two Georgia runners were too fast for the Kentucky sprinters and finally gained the victory.

Galloway, the sprint star for the visitors, was exceptionally fast and won both the 100 and 220 in fast time. Dean, a 200 pound sophomore, showed up well in the weight events and in the hurdles.

The Wildcats will clash with Berea on the Berea track on May 1. The summary: 100-yard dash—Galloway (T); (Continued on Page Four)

PERSHING RIFLES WILL HOLD MEET

University Military Unit Will Compete With Four Visiting Units on May 12 on Stoll Field

The University of Kentucky unit of Pershing Rifles will be host to the units from the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Kentucky at a drill competition to be held at 8 p. m. Friday, May 12, on Stoll field. The University unit was victorious at the meet held last spring at the University of Illinois. Lieut. P. E. LeSturgeon is in charge of the local unit.

Among those universities attending will be University of Illinois, Ohio State University, University of Indiana, and University of Dayton. The University of Cincinnati is entering every effort to form a unit at the present time, and it is possible that this group will also be invited to attend the meet.

On Saturday morning, following the drill competition, small bore rifle teams representing the universities mentioned will compete in a shoulder to shoulder rifle match in the Armory. Following a noonday luncheon in honor of the visiting units and their guests, members of the visiting companies and officers will be given an afternoon's tour of the Bluegrass. Help! Snakes! Get The Hatchet!

They had just started to the Alpha Gam tea dance, these two, when Benny got playful and pulled a live snake out of his pocket and thrust it into the face of the "modest little Alpha Gam who doesn't like publicity" ran screaming back into the house and sat down and waited until another suitor came and took her to the dance.

And Benny? Why he went to the dance and had a very enjoyable time, they say. After the dance the "modest little Alpha Gam who doesn't like publicity" went home and tried to keep Kern-ers from printing her name in connection with the incident. However, if you are curious as to the identity of the "modest little Alpha Gam who doesn't like publicity," look in the Harrodsburg phone directory.

He will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Boush Stillwell Hughes. Wildcat Tennis Team Overwhelms Berea Netters 8-0

In the first match after their southern trip, on which they lost to Emory, Alabama, and Tulane, Coach Downing's racquetmen defeated Berea, 8 to 0, Saturday afternoon on the home courts.

Lack of outdoor practice and the long, hard journeys were largely responsible for the defeats during the Easter holidays. Tulane was by far the best team which the Kentuckians encountered on the trip. Emory was rated second, although Alabama served them a worse defeat than did the Atlanta boys.

In the match Saturday afternoon, play was considerably slowed up by a heavy wind, and the roughness of the courts. However, the Kentucky netmen showed improvement and took the six singles and two doubles matches with very little trouble.

In the No. 1 singles Howard Wilson conquered Sam Combs, 8-6, 6-3. K. P. Smith, who won the No. 2 position just before the southern trip by defeating Braden, walloped Kenneth Arnett, 6-1, 6-2. Don Braden defeated Clarence McCall 6-4, 6-4, and Turner Howard trounced Walter Combs 6-1, 6-0, in the No. 3 and No. 4 matches. In the No. 5 George Yost easily handled Anthony Kauth, 6-4, 6-2, and in the last of the singles Captain Roger Klein defeated Charles Bertram 6-4, 3-6, 6-2. Bertram won the only set the Bereans were able to take during the afternoon.

Smith and Wilson handled McCall and Arnett to the score of 6-1, 6-1, in the No. 1 doubles, and Klein and Yost had but little more trouble in defeating W. Combs and S. Combs in the No. 2, 6-3, 9-7.

The Kentuckians will meet St. Xavier, Cincinnati, on the home courts next Friday, April 28, and on the day following Indiana university will play in Lexington. A return engagement will be held with Berea May 15.

A resolution submitted by James Curtis, further provided that the council go on record as approving the constitution and the suggestions which various members of the council made at the meeting.

Upon receipt of a letter from J. D. Palmer, asking for the council's opinion as to the validity of the recent election of Kentuckian editor, the council passed a resolution stating that it held the election to be fair for all parties concerned and expressing confidence in the fairness and exactness of the results.

John Ewing, president of the Student council, appointed the following committee to confer with the Senate on the new constitution: Tom P. Lynch, Russell Gray, and John Ewing.

WOMEN'S BUILDING

Through the interest of the deans of women and the Woman's club of the University, a long anticipated need has been realized. Women students have now at their disposal a building which will be used exclusively for functions of women's organizations on the campus.

The Woman's building will not only be used for meetings, but also as a place of recreation. Girls, whether belonging to an organization or not, are welcome at all hours of the day.

While erection of a new building was impossible, the remodeling of the Patterson home has proved to be an ideal place for the fulfillment of the requirements of a woman's building. The advantages of such a building are obvious.

Those who have helped to make possible the Woman's building are to be commended for their work. All women of the University should take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded them and, by co-operation with those in authority, make the building a valuable asset to the campus.

AN HONOR

The American Political Science association is to hold a conference on county government at Emory College in Atlanta, Georgia, April 27, 28 and 29.

One of only two men to be invited from outside the state of Georgia is Dr. John W. Manning of the political science department of the University of Kentucky. The other outsider is former Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina. It is quite a distinction to be selected to head a round table discussion on county consolidation as Doctor Manning has. The majority of those who attend the conference will be professors and public officials of Georgia. It is particularly appropriate that Doctor Manning should head the discussion on county consolidation since he is considered an authority in that field and also because Georgia has practiced county consolidation to a large extent.

The Kernel congratulates Doctor Manning on the honor of his selection and also the University in having Doctor Manning as a member of its faculty.

POPULAR ERROR CORRECTED

The following editorial appeared in the April 1 issue of The Lexington Herald and is self-explanatory:

"State Inspector and Examiner Nat B. Sewell is quoted in The Herald as having asked in a recent speech before the Fayette County Farm Bureau:

"Why should we pay an athletic coach more than we pay the president of the institution, the governor or any other state official?"

"As a matter of fact, the head coach and all other coaches of the University of Kentucky are paid by the athletic council from funds of the Athletic association, which funds are received from ticket sales and gate receipts from the athletic events.

"The amount of salary paid to a coach in no way affects the amount of taxes paid by any taxpayer. It only affects the amount paid for a ticket to a football game.

"If any who criticize the amount of salary paid to the football coach do so in behalf of those who buy tickets for the football games and claim that they need relief in the form of lower charges for tickets, this is logical and based on the facts.

"It is not fair to make the implication that any reduction in a coach's salary would afford any relief to any taxpayer in the amount of taxes he pays.

"While the conclusion implied by Mr. Sewell is wholly erroneous it is nevertheless worthy of note that the public supported the football games much better than the citizens of the state supported the school system. The Athletic council was able to have money with which to pay a coach during the days that the University was in distress for funds with which to pay teachers.

"The taxpayer, except by attending football games, can neither add to nor detract from the amount paid coaches. He can, however, determine whether the teachers are to be paid, and this is a problem that must be solved by taxpayers and state officials and others who talk and act in their behalf."

TRAFFIC RULES

Traffic regulations have for a long time been a problem at the University and every few weeks some concerning factor boils to the top. Students often ask, "Are there any printed regulations, and if so where do you find them?" The answer is that there are printed regulations, but you see them only after you have broken one of the traffic laws. Then you will find them printed on a card neatly tucked in your windshield.

The rules are numbered and the one which you have violated is checked. However, the first card received is not disastrous, but is merely a warning. After you have been presented with two or three of these cards, you are likely to be called before the disciplinary committee.

A student who is prosecuted by the committee certainly has no one to blame but himself. For, whether or not the regulations are printed and freely distributed, all parking lanes are so clearly marked on the campus that there is no excuse for violation. Signs indicate the various parking zones, and all the rules in general are clearly understood by the student body at large.

Any student should have sufficient intelligence not to block the walkways; yet recently we have observed the University's lone painter going to the trouble of painting of red lines in front of these walkways. Before this paint was dry, cars were parked along in front of it. It seems that this paint might be used to much more advantage on some of the buildings. It is true that the art center would look like a barber shop with streaks of red paint on it, but at least it would keep the wood from decaying in these places. At any rate the paint would be of greater advantage here than on the pavements.

The regulations were approved by the Board of Trustees for the advantage of all the students, and persons driving automobiles should have sufficient respect for these rules to make it unnecessary to issue continued warnings. Moreover, common decency should prevent blocking the walkways and the disrespecting the rights of the pedestrians.

QUIS VADIT?

—CRADDOCK

By JOHNNY CRADDOCK

When this man was a young boy, he lived so far back in the sticks that the settlers had to break daylight with a club. His father was a school teacher, but finally the woodpeckers at the schoolhouse down and his two students were lucky to escape with their scalps.

Our hero wanted to follow in his father's footsteps, so after tracking him for several years, he awoke one morning to find he was a school teacher. After all, that's better than not awaking at all, for a lot of school teachers are still waiting for their alarm clocks to ring.

Covered with confusion, freckles and gummy clay, and handicapped by an education from McGuffey's Reader and the old Blue Back Speller, our dapper dean combed the hay seed from his hair and set off to taste of college life. It must have tasted pretty good for he made the highest marks in his class. Yessir, he could take a piece of chalk and make a mark on the blackboard three feet higher than any of his classmates.

One day, the Dean of the College of Education went squirrel hunting and never returned (squirrels always get the best of everything), so the senate held a meeting and made a motion to elect a new dean. After the motion was read twice and sung once, finally it was passed to the effect that the country lad should be the new dean. They knew that he would mean well (origin of the phrase "Deanie is a meanie").

He says that the important thing in teaching school is to keep your head. We agree with him, exactly, but we might also add that many good school teachers may retain their heads and still lose their scalps.

Casual Observations

By FRED H. SHEILS

Greetings, friends! The Observer returns to bring you the semi-weekly smiles that are due you. Perhaps you read the old swag song in this column just before Easter holidays began; perhaps you didn't. Well, there was such in this, because it was generally supposed by The Observer, several friends, and numerous enemies that the before-holiday column would be the last. It was intended to have been just that, but consultation with friend Editor lead this pest to think that other columns could be used. Greetings, friends! The Observer returns!

Sorry, folk, that the semi-weekly weather prophecy has not appeared for a month. However, the last one took up until the holidays that closed last Tuesday and the old weather-foot wasn't working so well on the 20, so the prediction was forced to wait until today. It offers the following for April 25 until May 1:

Rainy spell over central states (which means Kentucky), wind squalls with a range of temperature slightly above average, and the rainfall promises to be at or near a normal precipitation.

Sig Epic
Since the steady rains drowned a bit muddy, might The Observer the picnic plans and a few feet got ask if the suggestion of what should happen in early May will be accepted. It also has come to the attention of several that a college education omits popular Americanized French words. For example:

Willie—Where is my new fraternity pin?

She—On my chifonier.

Willie—On your chif—er—don't forget to take it off before you send the into the laundry.

This is the last lap, students! You have been warned before, but the exposure didn't take. Slip out of second and drop into high, then DIG!

A rather interesting water fight was held between two football aspirants in the "sink hole" near on Maxwellton court. Sigalph Langan Hay and Deltaw Gene Bryant featured. Hay cruised back to port sans adequate clothing on his anatomy. Hazel Mattingly watched the scuffle from the vantage point of the front porch, perhaps a little too far from the scene to note all the particulars, but—Hey, Hey, she couldn't have missed the Pantless, panting for his pants. The fight might have continued indefinitely if the water supply had been more abundant.

Tri-Delt Dot Whitsett is anxiously anticipating a trip to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby. She has received a tip on the Goode Racing Stables entry and is planning to place a two dollar bet on the entry to win.

We have just learned that the Alpha Gamma Rhos are planning an "Overall Dance". That little word is misunderstood as to the meaning. Will the dance be "over all" the other dances?..or will the style of dress be "Overalls" etc.

The Triangles entertained "just" 12 girls at dinner on Sunday. This said that is the smallest number they have had to dinner this year. Triangle "Red" Davis was the only member who did not have a date. What's the matter "Red"?..Are you a member of the Bachelor's club?

The Georgia Tech track team attended the dance at the gym Saturday night. They were very much impressed with the appearance of the far-famed Kentucky women. They also passed many compliments on the co-eds who attended. Tri-Delt Betsy Fry, Kappa Mary King Montgomery, Kappa Mary Dantizer, Alpha Gam Lillian Holmes, and several others were very pleasing to eyes of several Tech boys. They were expecting to leave early in the evening, but after an invitation to attend the dance they changed the time of departure until 11 o'clock. At 10:40 the visitors still were dancing, but their manager became worried and a request was made to High Adcock to have the trackmen report at the exit. With ten minutes to catch their train the Georgians were finally collected and made a hurried departure with words of regret that they couldn't stay longer.

One co-ed remarked that Niel Plummer's car reminded her of a ladybug.

When a Kernel reporter called the Tri-Delt house yesterday to find out the names of the six Greekettes who were taking a sun bath on the roof of the porch of the chapter house at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, he was told over the phone that "I don't live here, and we only had three girls in the house." We wonder who carried the six from the roof.

If there is a giggling contest on the campus, the Kappa Pennington duo should clinch the first and second prizes. The first had better go to that elder Pennington sister, Alice.

Kay Claude Barnett must have a twin brother that looks like him. He courts Chio Hazel Bryan, one of the Kappa Penningtons, Alpha-gam Judy Webb, and the Tri-delta at the Commons in the mornings, and delivers papers every day besides attending classes.

Cale Young Rice, poet and dramatist, and his wife, Alice Hegan Rice, short story writer, natives of Kentucky, will arrive in Lexington Wednesday, for a short visit with President and Mrs. McVey at Maxwell place. They will speak before several clubs and literary groups, during their visit here.

Mr. Rice was born at Dixon, Ky., December 7, 1872. He was graduated from Cumberland University and received his A. B. degree from Harvard University in 1895, his M. A. in 1896. He has, for many years, been a writer of lyrics and dramas. Several books of shorter poems are From Dusk to Dusk, Song Surf, Nirvana Days, Many Gods. Some of his plays are: Charles di Tocca, David, Yolanda of Cyprus, and A Night in Avignon, a trilogy which includes Giorgione. His most recent publication is a book of poems "High Perils." Other works are, "Seed of the Moon," "Stygian Freight," "Bitter Brew," etc.

Mrs. Rice, Alice Caldwell Hegan, was born in 1870, in a big old country house at Shelbyville, Ky. She is the author of that delightful and popular book, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which was first published in 1901. In 1902 Alice Hegan married Cale Young Rice. She continues to write. Some of her other works are: "Lovey Mary," "Sandy," "A Romance of Billy-Goat Hill," "The Honorable Percival," etc.

Mr. Rice in a recent letter to the literary editor in reply to a request for advice to would-be poetry writers and contributions to this column wrote "As for a statement for the students who wish to write poetry, the only advice I could give is for them to study all the poetry past and present that has really endured, and, having learned from poetry criticism why it has endured, or promises to endure, to go to work with whatever passion and modernity they possess to write and throw away, and rewrite until they learn whether they have any talent for writing. As most of them will not do this, but fondly imagine that all they have to do is to write whatever comes into their heads, under the influence of any prevalent mood, the advice is doubtless worthless."

The following poems are entered in this month's poetry contest:

A SONG FOR THE SPRING
I shall open wide the windows
And let the wind come through.
And with the wind will come
Songs of birds,
And laughter of children.

There will be sweet scents of flowers
That bloom beneath the windows
Where the wind comes through,
Fragrance of roses
And sweetness of honeysuckle.
And the sounds and scents will bring
Happiness to all who know
Beauty in all these things,
Songs of birds
And fragrance of flowers

O! I shall open wide the windows
And let the wind come through.
—D. C.

THE TREMULOUS DAYS
The tremulous days are gone
When life like wine
Sweetened our thirsty lips;
All shattered now the crystal mine
That held the opiate; the dawn's
Fled out in silver ships.

And evening's quiet note bleeds
In candles' flame
Our youth's an empty name
The moon's wan boat slips through the sky
While clouds are hollow as eternity
And God's thin voice but whistles in the reeds.

What is that massive pile of red brick over on Lime and Euclid, hard by the Art Center whence issue such strange sounds and stranger people? Who are the inmates of this building, and what do they do for amusement, or more properly, what do they do when they don't want to study? And again, when DO they want to study? The answer is vague, but once in awhile the little girls who hang out there do manifest signs of an interest in their good old collieth work. On yaas—occasionally. Then what else happens in Boyd hall? Frankly, you'd be surprised.

For instance, did you know that various of the girls entertain regularly a relative, or even several relatives of a very famous movie star? We thought you didn't—but drop in sometime when Mickey Mouse's pals are jowlsily rolling around in someone's waste basket along in the wee small hours of the night, to the accompaniment of squeals or jeers. Squeals and jeers, you see some girls are afraid of mice, and some say they can't hurt you, but they run, too, when one of Mickey's cousins is on the loose, and careening down the Hall.

All right—entertainment—that's one form of it. Then there is bridge. In every room, long about supper time, or just afterwards, the Culbertson factions line up against the disciples of Work, and the battle is on. "Two clubs?" "Why, isn't that funny, I haven't a single club to give you—now if you'd have said hearts, I could have given you five to the King—you HAD hearts? Then for Heaven's sake, why didn't you BID them? Didn't have a count? But with mine. . . how come we went down five? NO CLUBS? But whatever did you bid them for? Oh, Lord, that old Culbertson Approach-Force, stuff—why don't you play the right way. . . and so on, far into the night.

The possibilities of bridge being exhausted, the gals can always turn to jig-saw puzzles, and consequently lose the few friends that remain to a person who has long been an addict. Even the nicest sort of a person has been known to throw things after being severely grilled regarding the disappearance of a piece of a beloved scene. Where is the Archbishop's right ear? Of course, darling, I don't want to seem nasty, but I distinctly saw you using that little piece to stuff up a hole in your shoe! I couldn't believe my eyes, and I didn't want to say anything, but now that I remember, it's quite clear where the Archbishop's nose has gone! Woe to any girl who has a fleeting urge to straighten up the room, if it be that there is a jig-saw puzzle fiend anywhere about. Her life is temporarily in danger lest she consign to the waste basket such an important piece as the third leaf on that poplar tree on the left, or dust the table whereon a half-completed picture leans crazily out of one eye at her as she goes about her business.

Another form of amusement takes place about the time that the last date has slid hopefully off the front porch, or been hauled protestingly out the back door. The calm, cool little girl who lingers longest on the back stoop, once she has rid herself of her date, thunders up the stairs, or hastily crawls up a windpipe—no, a water pipe, or shinies up the side wall, in an earnest effort to join her clan in some nearby room. Usually she finds someone there ahead of her, but her turn will come. "And he said to me—do you think that's nice?"—and I said to him, what do

Roamin' the Rialto

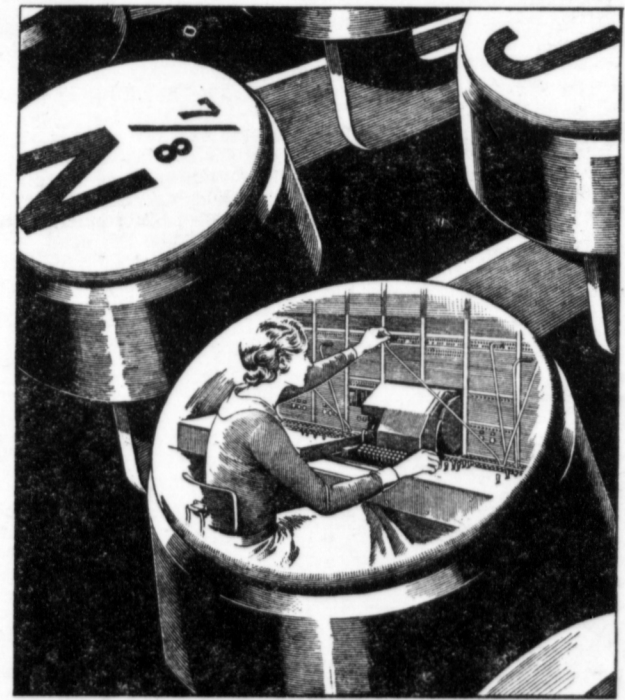

By JOAN CARIGAN

The appearance of Helen Hayes and Clark Gable in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's talking picture, "The White Sister," at the Strand theater, calls attention to the extraordinarily high place co-star pictures have achieved in the field of entertainment. There seems to be something about a co-star entertainment that guarantees success. For the purpose of properly presenting on the screen the romance of F. Marion Crawford's widely-read story, a new combination was formed: Helen Hayes and Clark Gable. Both have an entirely different appeal. That of Miss Hayes is very feminine, replete with pathos and romance. That of Gable is virility, ability to be on the screen the beau ideal that every woman cherishes.

The escapades of three heirs of a multi-millionaire who chose to buy love and pleasure and cynically scouted the existence of anything worthwhile, brings Lionel Barrymore, the father, to the conclusion that his children must surely be the "sweepings" of humanity. The crumbling of his morals before this shock is portrayed in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Sweepings," playing at the Kentucky. Supporting Barrymore in the roles of the children are Alan Dinehart, Eric Linden, William Gargan, and Gloria Stuart.

Rolfé Harold plays the role of a newspaper reporter who tried to frame the woman he loved for the sake of a good story and got left holding the bag when the plot didn't go through, in Equitable Pictures' new picture, "Cheating Blondes," coming Thursday to the Ben Ali. Thelma Todd has the part of The Girl With the Butterfly Legs and her twin sister. Others in the cast are Inez Courtney, Milton Wallis, Mae Busch, and Earl McCarthy. The picture was directed by Joseph Levering.

Some of the pictures scheduled to appear at local theaters soon include "Luxury Liner," coming to the Strand Thursday; "Today We Live," "Men Must Fight," "A Bedtime Story," "Mammoth Tower," Asher Sizemore, a native of the Kentucky mountains, with his little son Jimmie will appear in person at the Kentucky theater April 27, 28, and 29. Asher and little Jimmie, the holders of a world's record for receiving fan mail from a single broadcast, appear as a daily feature of Radio Station WHAS at Louisville. Arrangements have been made for the artists to broadcast a program from the University studios at 12:30 o'clock Friday, April 28.

Another aid to business ...a Teletypewriter "Central"

Working out new ways to serve the communication needs of the public is an objective always in the minds of Bell System men. The new Teletypewriter Exchange Service—typing by wire—is an example.

For some years Private Wire Teletypewriter Service has speeded communication between separated units of many large organizations. Telephone men— anxious to make this service more widely useful— have now established Teletypewriter central offices, through which any subscriber to the service may be connected directly with any other subscriber. Both can type back and forth—their messages being reproduced simultaneously at each point.

This new service provides fast, dependable communication and does for the written word what telephone service does for the spoken word. It is one more Bell System contribution to business efficiency.

SUMMER SESSION BEGINS JUNE 12

Approximately 275 Courses Are To Be Offered in Thirtieth Summer Session of University

Through its six colleges and the graduate school, the University will offer approximately 275 courses during the 1933 summer school which will begin June 12.

The director of the 1932 summer session, Dr. Jesse E. Adams, will again have charge of the school, which is the thirtieth that has been held by the University.

Friday, August 18, has been set as the date for the fourth annual summer school commencement for students completing their work for degrees during the two terms of five weeks each.

This year an extra-curricular activities program has been arranged, which will include the regular Wednesday afternoon teas given by Doctor and Mrs. McVey, the concerts of the University band, the various faculty receptions, the all-University picnic, special lectures and convocations, and a laboratory play to be given in the Guignol theatre under the direction of Frank Fowler.

Copies of the 1933 summer session bulletin may be obtained from room 116 in the training school building. This bulletin contains a schedule of recitations and laboratories, requirements for entrance, and other necessary information.

Dr. A. W. Freeman, professor of public health administration at Johns Hopkins university, will be the principal lecturer of the second annual school for health officers, which will be held July 12 to 15 inclusive. This school, which last year attracted 27 physicians and 28 nurses, will also have on the staff Miss Margaret East, registered nurse with the state board of health; Dr. J. S. Chambers, head of the department of hygiene and public health of the University, and several other members of the hygiene staff. Nine courses will be offered during the school, seven of which will give graduate credit.

The University summer session will also offer a group of courses for Kentucky relief workers in the sociology department, under the direction of Dr. Harry Best, head of the department. Complete information regarding these courses and others in the department may be obtained from the offices of the summer session.

Following an edict of the southern association that library standards must be enforced with the beginning of the 1933 fall term, the department of library science has planned sufficient courses this summer to meet the requirements for librarians in the various high schools.

Recent guests at the Sigma Chi house were Messrs. George Hillan, Floppy Farquer, Bill Lusky, Bob Kipping, and Wade Jefferson.

Week-end guests at the Chi Omega house were Misses Madge and Bess Reynolds, Augusta, and Miss Carlene Grant, Winchester.

Miss Mary Clay Williams, national inspector of Chi Omega, will visit the chapter this week.

TURKISH TOBACCO
comes to this country in bales.
The leaves are small and tightly packed. Each bale contains about 40,000 leaves.

DOMESTIC TOBACCO
is stored in huge wooden hogsheads. Each hogshead contains about 1000 pounds of tobacco.

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco — Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

Coach Bernie Shively's Cat track team enjoyed adverse luck Saturday in dropping a three point decision to the powerful Georgia Tech team. The Cats were leading by two points when the final event of the afternoon, the mile relay, was run. And on their previous performances the Wildcat quartet should have won the race. But they didn't; Tech was faster and the best the Cat runners could do was to hold the lead for the first half of the race.

Although he failed to keep his undefeated record spotless, "Red Doug" Parrish, Cat sprint artist, was again a high point man for the afternoon with 17 points gained by firsts in the 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, seconds in the pole vault and 220-yard dash, and a third in the century. After all this competition and hardly able to stand, Parrish ran a lap in the relay and although tired by his exertions, still ran a great quarter mile.

Sports fans! We beg to apologize for the lack of sports in the last edition of the rag. But you have heard the quotation of Robert Burns, "The best efforts of mice and men gang all a-gley." We had more copy last week than could be published, even though it was new stuff and was more important than some week old story that was adjudged by the powers that be to be much better than any sports that ever happened or ever will happen.

The red-head that writes Kampus Kernels, or tries to, recounted his tale of woe to all of you readers last Friday. He said he was absolutely no kin to the writer of this column for which he was duly thankful. Well, suffice it to say that we have had many insults of that nature in the course of a rather stormy lifetime, but never one so flagrant as that paid us by several unknown persons to whom the gentleman refers.

The golf team under the direction of Prof. J. C. Jones, got off to a rather disappointing start last Wednesday by bowing to the Dayton team, but without offering an alibi we believe that had the match come later in the season the Cats would have played the Ohioans a much closer game and might possibly have won. They should win the remaining matches on the schedule which include meetings with the Eastern State teachers team, and Xavier University of Cincinnati.

After taking it on the nose in three straight matches while on their southern trip, the Wildcat Tennis squad came back home last week and soundly trounced the Berea racketeers. With the opponents scheduled for them during the remainder of the season, the Cats should enjoy a banner year. P. K. Smith and George Yost, after enjoying erratic seasons last year, give promise of developing into the steadiest men on the team this season.

Well fans, lets hear from you! Have you no ideas or contributions to make? We are still waiting, wide-eyed and expectant. Send your communications to "Seen From the Press Box," care Kentucky Kernel.

INTRAMURAL

Due to continued inclement weather, intramural spring sports have been at a standstill for more than two weeks. Hack has decided not to set a definite date for the matches to be played off until he is assured that some good spring weather is in prospect, but all those participating in any of the intramural sports are urged to play off their matches at the earliest possible time.

Diamond ball has gotten under way and some of the teams are expected to play during this week. It looks like the A.T.O.'s have a good chance of winning the cup this year as well as the S.A.E.'s and S.X.'s. The A.T.O.'s were fraternity champions in diamond ball last year and as they have just about the same team again this year they are going to be hard to beat. The Independents are rumored to have a good team again this year. They were the only team that beat the A.T.O.'s last year and are said to be much improved this season. The Sigma Chis still have Bud Davidson and they should offer quite a bit of competition.

Fencing is the only intramural sport that has not been started, but it is expected to begin within the next two weeks. Fencing may prove to be the deciding factor in the race for the cup this year as at the present time the S.A.E.'s only have a lead of 121 points over their closest fraternity rivals, the Sigma Chis. The cup is not "in the bag" yet, however, and whoever wins it is going to have to work from now on out.

Wildcat Mentor Discusses Rule Meeting in N.Y.

Only Minor Changes Made By National Committee of Coaches

In an interview yesterday with Coach Rupp, who recently returned from the meeting of the National Association of Basketball Coaches held in New York, the mentor declared that very little was accomplished during the meeting in regard to changing the rules for the coming basketball year.

However, an important change was made in the substitution rule. The coaches agreed that the present rule limiting the number of times a player may enter a game was entirely too drastic and proved a hardship on the players as well as the team. The rule was changed in order to allow a player to enter the game a third time. This will enable the coaches to give their players a much needed rest in hard games and also allow greater freedom in substituting.

Radical changes in the rules were proposed by a number of the coaches, especially the Eastern group of mentors, but all of these failed to pass. Nat Holman, coach of City College of New York, and a former member of the original Celtics, proposed that the zone defense now in use be abolished. A majority of the coaches agreed that the zone defense was a decided detriment to the good of basketball and also to its popularity. However, the proposed rule failed to amended by a two-thirds vote of the Council.

(3) A majority of the membership of the Council may amend the By-Laws.
